Simple astrology for reading cards

Introduction - A word of advice on usage

As mentioned before , this book will give you additional aids in the handling of your cards and the design of your consultations.

As with numerology, I do therefore not intend to write a comprehensive introduction to Astrology at this point. Such a step would go beyond the scope of this textbook.

So I'll introduce this vast subject only in so far in this volume as is useful for the purpose of the card reading.

If you are inspired by this brief introduction, I can only recommend you follow this interesting path with the help of an astrologer or a more complex textbook.

The following short insight into astrology is therefore excellent as an aid to the card reader's field of work, but in no case to be considered a comprehensive textbook for aspiring astrologers!

About the sense and nonsense of astrology in reading cards:

Based on our cards, we gain a certain amount of insight into many events in the lives of our customers.

Without further information it is, however, often difficult for the reader to assess how our clients will respond, to those events.

The way in which we handle certain experiences and occurrences in our life depends, of course, also on personality and our character.

Therefore, any responsible consultant will always try, to get a picture of the personality of their client:

This is the point where the art of Astrology is applied.

In order to understand certain behavioural patterns of my customers and to assess their surroundings I'm using the characterization of the Zodiac to my advantage.

For example, a man who was born under the sign of Leo, will react quite differently to the same situation than, say, a Virgo.

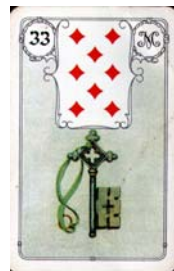

For me these aspects should not be missing in my discussions in order to get a complete picture of my client.....

Aries-born have a lot of energy and life force, however, they must be able to often measure their skills in competitions with others in order to develop and progress. Typical are the strong will, the urge to assert and their determination. Sometimes they are their own biggest enemy.

Those born under the sign of Aries tend to alternately build up and destroy what was created. Often such people undo what has been painstakingly built with only a few sentences.

Their own mistakes, however, are very troublesome for the Aries. With long explanations, they try to justify himself even when they get more and more entangled in contradictions admittedly aggravating their position.

my tip:

Encourage the Aries to openly confess to their mistakes and the approval of those around them will be theirs.

1st decade 21st March – 31st March

1st decade Aries are very family oriented and reliable supporters who want to feel the recognition they are due in their lives.

They tend to be a little too dominant in behavior, however, and can come on as slightly aggressive to others. If you let them blow off steam life can be pleasant and safe with them.

2nd decade 2nd April – 10th April

The dominance of the Aries increases in the 2nd decade. Those born within this time should nevertheless consider what may result from this trait in their own life plan.

The so-called "self-fulfilling prophecies" are typical of this sign: an Aries, which is stuck with the conviction that a project is doomed from the start, possibly takes unconscious steps to make this premonition is a certainty.

Generally Aries almost spark with energy and drive. So there is usually no reason to be despondent. Aries should rouse themselves and take matters into their own hands with their famous "right-here-right-now-method"! Do not let it get to you and monitor your progress carefully, and your project will succeed in the end.

3rd decade 11th April – 20th April

You have to know how to approach the Aries of the third decade: They need a strong partner who is able to ignore the dominant, sometimes almost autocratic nature of this Aries decade as much as is necessary.

But then you have found reliable and loving partners, who will stand by you through all the ups and downs of life.

Additional aids and techniques to reading the cards

Some exercises to maintain the energy

In order to protect your sensitivity and energy in demanding phases, I've put together some exercises that help me find my personal balance over and over.

I. release your chakras

Chakras are energy centers that are located along our central meridian.

The energies accumulating in these centers are by no means all esoteric hocus-pocus. With the aid of certain photographic techniques, these oscillations are quite measurable and photographable.

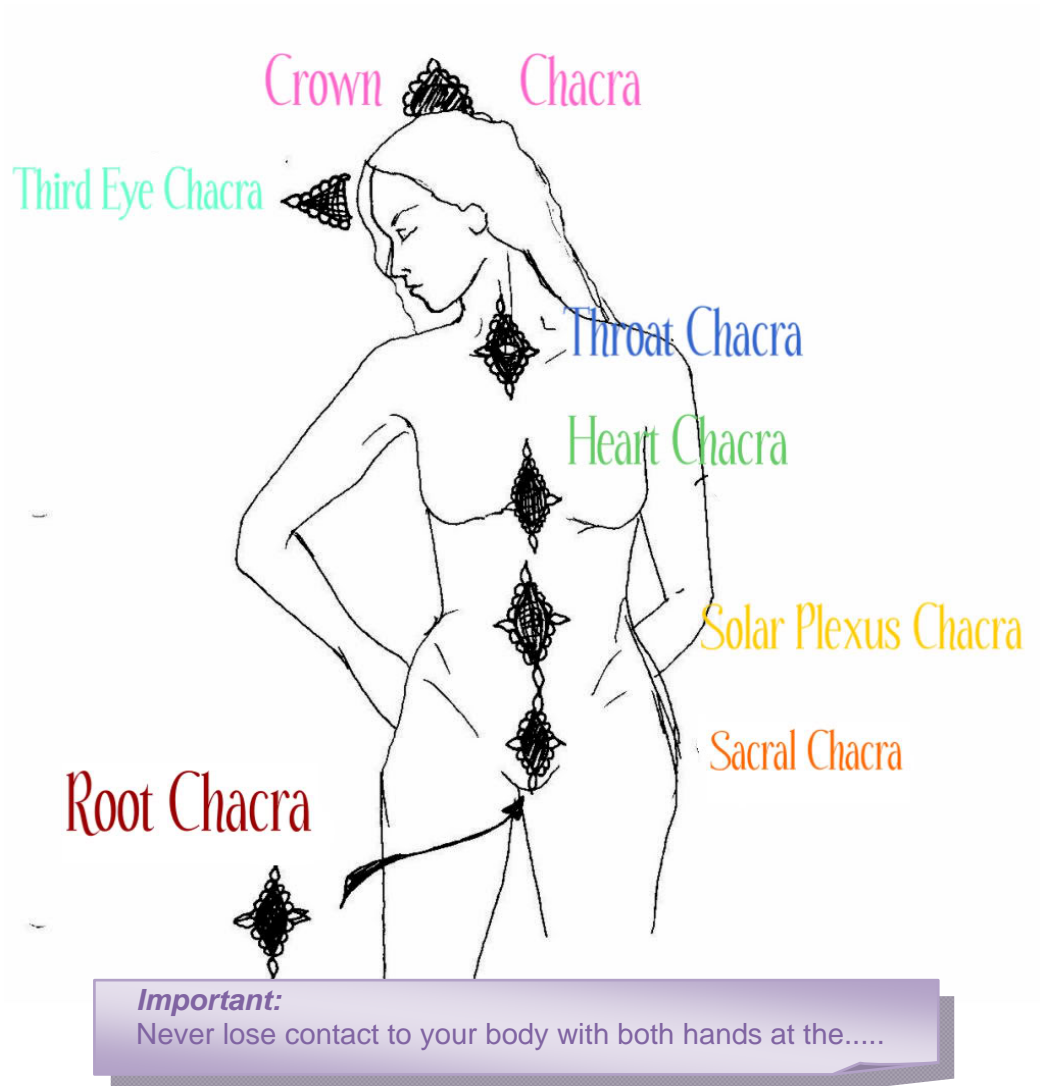

Be careful of your breathing: Try to breathe into the areas of your body, which you need to feel peace in.

Some other useful aids

Rituals

Rituals can help you to reach your goals, by focusing your concentration and inner peace.

They have nothing in common with black magic or witchcraft. With their stable structures and ever-recurring processes, however, they help us to gather our thoughts and focus on the following tasks, such as reading cards. Those who constantly ponder the problems of everyday life or are easily distracted by outside influences and cannot fully concentrate on the desired partners, the desired job or similar things may be able to reach these goals only with great difficulty.

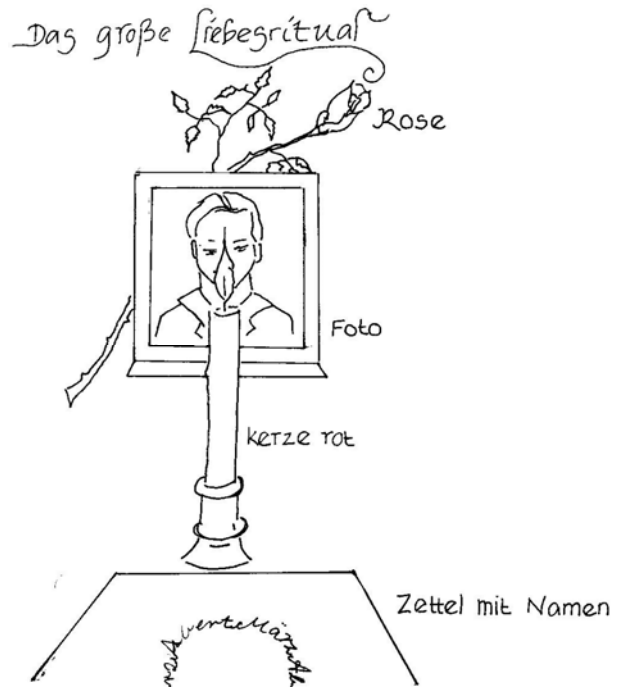

The love ritual

Perform the love ritual at seven-consecutive days or seven days of Venus (Friday) after sunset.
Put a red rose, a solid-colored red candle, paper and pencil, and, if you have one, a picture of your beloved.

You can perform the ritual on the floor or on a

Arrow Energy

This energy-arrow is a metal rod of about one centimeter in diameter. Using this energy bar, you can purify all things of daily life and recharge them. Similarly, it can neutralize negative vibes.

I personally use the energy-arrow to tend to physical problems, such as alleviating bruises, allergies and sometimes direct it to myself to keep negative influences away from me.

With the energy-rod in hand I go through the rooms of my apartment to neutralize unwanted vibrations. I also employ it to neutralize my cards after each consultation. The arrow is one of my favorite tools.

Tensor

The so-called tensor is a natural and simple tool, which helps to make subtle vibes visible. With the tensor you can find out whether certain energies have an invigorating or debilitating impact on a person. If you want to work with the tensor you can chose from a variety of applications:

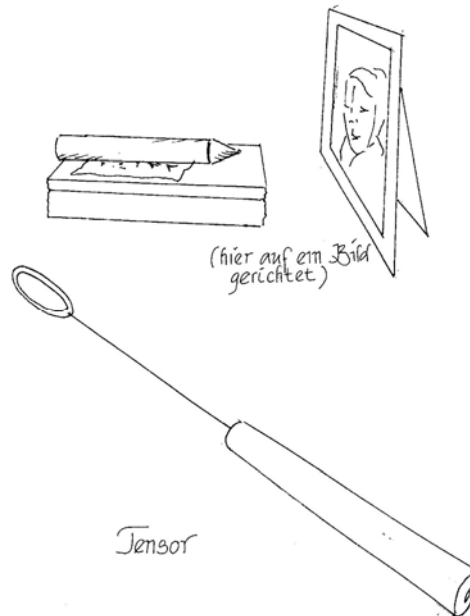

You can use it as such instead of a pendulum.

You may also with his help, gather information on the energy of a product.

Using images of different people, it is also possible to ask questions, or to check certain drugs for potential intolerance. I employ the tensor with countless consultations and use it privately in my home.

How to use a tensor?

I would like to get information on something, using the tensor. I gather my thoughts and hold the tensor calmly over the subject which I want to examine in detail. I close my eyes and speak the following formula to open myself up:

"The Tensor knows everything and I know nothing."

Now I leave the tensor to operate freely and wait for the answer: A horizontal movement means "yes", while a vertical movement indicates "No". In a circular motion, however, everything is still open

Some tips to protect your energies during a counseling

During a counseling, it is generally advisable to sit the person directly opposite. This is not just a polite gesture, but also a means to shield your own center.

You can only partially observe people sitting next to you and therefore you cannot really see what they are doing. This uncertainty causes subconscious tension and blockages.....

How to start a consultation?

If you read the cards to strangers, it can be difficult to find the right approach for a consultation. To get an idea of your client, it is easiest to ask for specific information in a specific order.

In the beginning stick to the easy to follow steps described in this textbook. These give you a solid framework for your conversation and prevent you from forgetting to ask for important information. And they are a great support when you do not know how to go on during your consultation.

Every card reader will, in time, establish their own rules and procedures.
